Compound Sentences

Dear Mr. Winston
Grammar: Compound and
Complex Sentences

A compound sentence has two simple sentences joined together. The separate sentences are joined by a comma (,) and a coordinating conjunction such as and, or, but, or so.

complete sentence		complete sentence
Some people read books,	and	others talked quietly.
comma	coordinating conjunction

Thinking Questions

Is the sentence made up of two simple sentences? Is one word a coordinating conjunction with a comma before it?

1–8. Underline the simple sentences in each compound sentence. Circle the coordinating conjunction.

1. The girls went to the library, and they worked on their project.
2. They could do a report, or they could write a skit.
3. The library was quiet, but the girls were getting noisy.
4. Sophie made a joke, so everyone laughed.
5. Ms. Walker came over, and she put her finger to her lips.
6. The library is for everyone, but people should be considerate of others.
7. People must work quietly, or they will disturb others.
8. The girls could be quieter, or they could work at Sophie's house.

Complex Sentences

Dear Mr. Winston
Grammar: Compound and
Complex Sentences

A complex sentence is made up of a simple sentence and a dependent clause, or a group of words that has a subject and a predicate. The two parts are joined by a subordinating conjunction such as after, although, because, before, until, if, since, and while.

Thinking Question

Is the sentence made up of a simple sentence and a dependent clause with a subordinating conjunction?

The snake slithered under a rock simple sentence
before the sun became too hot. dependent clause

example

1-4. Read each complex sentence. Underline the simple sentence once. Underline the dependent clause twice. Circle the subordinating conjunction that joins the two.

- Although Rodney loved most animals, he didn't like snakes.
- Snakes startled him because they moved so quickly.
- He ran away from a snake in the grass though he knew it wasn't poisonous.
- He learned more about the snake after he saw it.

5-8. Write a complete sentence by adding a simple sentence to the dependent clause. Put a comma between the two parts of the complex sentence.

- Because that snake is poisonous,
_____
- Although this snake is large,
_____
- While you are at the zoo,
_____
- After you look at the snake exhibit,
